

Aron Eidelman

Web Developer

San Francisco, CA
aron@eideldev.com
678-231-3881

Skills

Summary

Front-end developer with additional experience in back-end development, product management, technical writing, education, startups, and working remotely on a SCRUM team. Eager to turn abstract ideas into living features with a team of smart, imaginative, and kind people.

Experience

Eideldev Freelance Web Developer

May 2017 - Present

- Redesigning and developing the site for a UCSF bioinformatics and genomics research lab using Vue and the CSS Grid layout
- Designed and developed a single-page application in Vue that guides readers through the logical dependencies of elements in Spinoza's Ethics
- Migrated a mid-sized Angular app to Vue for better performance and maintainability
- Designed and developed the UI for chat and booking features on a makeup artist's site using Vue's component and transition features within a Rails app

Gameplan Jobs Product Manager, Full-Stack Developer

Jun 2015 - May 2017

- Created a flow map for every iteration to be used canonically across teams
- Worked with contractors to create a REST client, documented all 64 requests and responses
- Created four different versions of user dashboards with Angular based on UX/UI designer's specifications
- Participated in local JavaScript meetups to expand toolset, keep up with trends, and hire contractors

TCG Technical Writer, Business Planner

Apr 2012 - Jun 2015

- Redesigned a data-warehousing startup's landing page and product section to make it adaptive and much faster

Mosaica Education Distance-Learning Curriculum Developer

Jan 2011 - Dec 2013

- Implemented feedback from teachers for over 200 online course units
- Redesigned learning-management system's user interface to be more accessible for children with sensory and cognitive disabilities

Education

- CareerFoundry Certificate: Ruby on Rails, Behavior-Driven Development, Responsive Design
- Oglethorpe University Bachelor of Arts: Philosophy

Social

